McEwan Heads Campaign National War Fund Hold Preliminary Meeting

A preliminary organization meeting of the National War Fund Committee was held Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Powell.

George McEwan, who has been selected as the local chairman, introduced Richard Lyman of Greenfield, chairman of the Franklin County Committee, who outlined the plan of the campaign and its objectives and made suggestions about the method of approach to individual contributors. They emphasized the fact that there will be no Red Cross Drive until February or March and that there will be no other national campaign this year.

Mr. McEwan has named the following committee to handle the campaign locally: George Carr, Mrs. A. Gordon Moody, Mrs. William E. Park, Miss Marietta Tower, Miss Anna Kurko, Frank W. Pearsall, Mrs. E. M. Powell, and Ross L. Spencer.

The principle speaker of the evening was Mme. Henry Laurent, who is the widow of a member of the Belgian Foreign Office who lost his life early in the war, and she spoke on the situation in Belgium. She said that Belgium's $300,000 share in the National War Fund is so small because little can be done there now. It is almost impossible to send food, clothing or medical supplies into the country except in a small trickle through underground channels, but she pointed out that when Belgium has been opened up the amount allotted by the War Fund will hardly scratch the surface because of the unbelievably serious conditions that have developed under Nazi occupation.

Mme. Laurent, who represents the Belgian Government in exile on the American radio, said that it was her policy to withhold most of the worst atrocity stories coming out of her country because of the fact that it would be utterly impossible for the average person here to believe even a small part of the horror that really exists. She showed several copies of underground papers which have been smuggled out of the country. There are at least fifty-two of these publications being issued regularly and they play an important part in maintaining morale among the down-trodden people. From one of these papers "La Libre Belgique" she read a description of the torture applied to the prisoners in one of the many concentration camps the Nazis have established. The extent to which the Germans go to wring false confessions out of the natives is hard to believe, but the speaker asserted that every word she read has been verified by responsible people who have managed to escape the country.

The only hope for the future of Belgium, and indeed all occupied countries, she said, is in the rehabilitation of young people, and even that hope will be lost unless something can be done quickly. The country is overrun with hundreds of thousands of vagrant children, many of whom have never known their parents, and all of whom fear adults. Most of them were so young when thrown on their own resources that they never learned the meaning of cleanliness, decency or morality, and at least 80 per cent of them are subject to other plagues fostered by the normal humid climate of Belgium.

In closing, Mme. Laurent made a plea for humanitarian post-war planning as well as political and economic planning which occupies most of our statesmen's attention now. The situation is so desperate now in all the occupied countries that the political and economic questions are a mockery without first reaching a solution of the humanitarian problems.

Many of the agencies included in the National War Fund Drive have issued their own posters in a style of art typical of the country or cause represented. A colorful display of these posters in the windows of Spencer's Garage is attracting much attention.

Mrs. Powell, chairman of the Women's Division, has announced her organization of solicitors who will conduct the house-to-house canvass of the entire town. It is suggested that if people expect to be away from their homes during this period, they get in touch with the worker in their district to save the time of these busy volunteers. The districts and workers covering them are as follows: Winchester road: Mrs. Fred Huber; Barber District and Wana-maker road: Mrs. R. McCulloch.

To Stem Rising Tide Of Prices Ration Book Holders Are Asked To Take The Home Front Pledge

★ I Will Pay No More Than Top Legal Prices
★ I Will Accept No Rationed Goods Without Giving Ration Stamps In Return

The office of Price Administration in Washington was created to control prices on the many necessities of living and make it possible for all to have an equal share in the many needed articles and merchandise used and consumed. The effort has been to stop price inflation and in this respect has been quite successful. The issuance of the various ration books has placed a control on speculative buying and hoarding. No one individual is to have more than others and all are to be dealt with in equality and justice. We are on the "home front" and housewives particularly are now asked to take a particular interest in the effort to keep prices down. The housewives of Northfield with all other buyers throughout the nation are asked to pledge themselves that "they will pay no more than top legal prices" for goods purchased and that they will "accept no rationed goods without giving ration stamps in return." The Northfield Rationing board through its price panel will ask for complete local co-operation, the stores displaying their ceiling prices and points required on the official list which is supplied them. Not more than the top price can be charged and it is to the credit of our merchants that no serious complaints thus far have been made. A check up is to be made soon of all stores selling rationed commodities, and in this matter the local board will have the assistance of a special committee. There is to be no policing nor snooping but rather a plea for full co-operation by both seller and buyer to sustain their country's method of war price control. In Northfield there were 2,419 of the last ration books issued and the holders of these books must co-operate fully with the government in keeping prices under control. Join in the "home front pledge" and enlist in the army of workers at home. Literature on the subject will soon be issued and sent out, posters will be displayed, and brief talks given before gatherings. The local committee assisting in this work will be announced later.

Resigns Her Duties With New York Missions

The bulletin of the New York City Mission society for October, announces the resignation of Mrs. Horace Bigelow, for seventeen years its efficient executive secretary. She is well known and has many friends in Northfield and for many years has been a welcome visitor. She has accomplished her work with the Mission society with rare ability and her resignation is a definite loss. It was Mrs. Bigelow who carried the responsibility for several camps for New York's underprivileged children, and among them was the Virginia camp which for many years has brought these young people to Northfield. Handicapped by war conditions, Virginia camp was sustained last summer, although the effort was a trying one. Miss Harper, who was directly in charge here, in her report of Virginia camp, made a most interesting record of the camp's experiences and success. No successor has been named as yet to the post held by Mrs. Bigelow, but it is hoped that Virginia camp will be sustained and that Miss Harper will again be in charge.

Dance At Town Hall Armistice Day Eve

There will be an Armistice Day dance held at the town hall next Wednesday evening from 8 to 12 o'clock. It will be given by the students of the High school and sponsored by the local Post of the American Legion. Music will be furnished by the Bargerons, an eight piece band, whose music has been frequently heard here. In connection with the dance there will be a display of photographs of men and women from this town who are in the service and all families are invited to participate by loaning photographs for this purpose. They may be left at the Northfield Pharmacy or with Mrs. E. M. Powell. Members of the Legion are asked to attend the dance in uniform. The committee of young people in charge of the dance consists of Miss Betty Phelps, chairman, Miss Virginia Bolton, Miss Karlene Taylor and Warren Hutchinson. Tickets are for sale by the students or may be bought at the door. Proceeds will be devoted to the expenses of the Senior class trip to New York.

Fortnightly Meeting

The scheduled meeting of the Fortnightly will be held today, Friday, at three o'clock in Alexander hall. There will be a short business session, after which Mrs. Roger Greenwood will direct a group of local talent in a short drama, quite interesting and full of action. The tea hostesses will be Mrs. William Marshall, Mrs. W. P. Stanley and Mrs. Dana Leavis. The next scheduled meeting will be "Gentlemen's night" and will be announced later.

Schools Get Bequest

From White Plains, N. Y., comes the information that Clarion B. Winslow, of that town, a well-known chain store executive, who died last week, has willed to the Northfield schools, 2000 shares of stock of the F. W. Woolworth Co., which at present value amounts to $76,000 and in addition a one-tenth interest in the residue of the estate.

Best Grade Cordwood Has A Ceiling Price At Buyer's Premises

There has now been established a ceiling price for the best hardwood cut in either 12, 16 or 24 inch length in Zone 1, which is our area, and that price is $14 per full cord, delivered at the buyers premises. The price for a half cord, cut, is $7.25 and for a quarter cord, cut, the figure is $4. Recently some wood has been sold here at a higher figure, in excess of the ceiling price, and a continuance of such excessive prices will be investigated. Now that the local Price panel of the Rationing Board will soon be named, it will endeavor to keep the public duly informed of the proper price on various commodities and to guide them in their buying. It is also expected that merchants and sellers of any commodity will fully co-operate when they realize that prices have been fixed and announced. It is not expected that any excessive prices will continue in the future.

County Brotherhoods Met In Greenfield

The 20th anniversary meeting of the Franklin county Brotherhoods and Men's church clubs met in Greenfield Monday evening with nearly 300 delegates attending. The Northfield Brotherhood was represented by six members and the new Men's club of the South Vernon church was elected to membership and had nine members in attendance. Those who had served as presidents in past years were introduced as guests of honor and among the number were Roy R. Hatch and Merritt C. Skilton of this town. Earle A. Brown of Millers Falls was chosen as president for the ensuing year and Harry A. Erickson of Mount Hermon is second vice-president. After a fine supper at the First Congregational church, the Federation enjoyed a splendid address by Dr. H. Hughes Wagner, pastor of Trinity Methodist church of Springfield. His talk was most amusing and dwelt largely with superstitions. All attending enjoyed a profitable evening.

To Collect Canes For Wounded Soldiers

Disabled soldiers returned from overseas are handicapped in their recovery by a lack of canes to use as they regain partial use of their legs. Military hospitals, finding the supply of canes from usual commercial sources exhausted, have appealed to the American Red Cross for help.

This appeal the Red Cross promptly passed on to the American Legion. The Northfield Post of the Legion is accordingly starting to collect canes in this community for the use of disabled soldiers. They will be forwarded to the American Red Cross for distribution.

Sidney H. Given, chairman of the Service Committee of the Legion Post, will be in charge of the cane collection. He plans receptacles at Northfield Pharmacy and at Buffum's service station. Unused canes are to be found in nearly every house in town. Our citizens are asked to give them and place them in the receptacles or hand them to a member of the committee which includes besides Chairman Given: Harland F. Atwood, George McEwan, Emory Rikert and F. Warren Whitman. It would cheer up the disabled soldiers to know that the town was going after these men with canes.

Legion Will Install New Elected Officials

This Friday evening in its quarters at the Town Hall, the newly elected officers of Haven Spencer Post 179, American Legion will be duly installed with appropriate ceremony by James R. Gordon, the district Commander and his suite. The ceremonies will start at 7:45 o'clock and members of the Legion will attend in uniform and greet the official visitors. The list of officers was published in the Press of last week.

Masonic Meetings

This Friday evening, November 5, at the Masonic Hall, the officers recently elected for Harmony Lodge will be installed by Rt. Wor. Donald E. Matthews of Bay State Lodge. After the installation there will be refreshments. The Lodge will meet next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in regular session and on Tuesday, November 23 at 8, the 12th Lodge of Instruction will be held with Republican Lodge of Greenfield, the speaker being Rev. Bro. G. Albert Higgins.

Victory Symbols In Farm Crop Of Potatoes At Mount Hermon School Sent To Prime Minister Churchill

Peter Leyden III, of Flushing, New York, senior class president and captain of the football team at Mount Hermon School, requests Headmaster William E. Park to send to the British Prime Minister a victory model discovered among the potatoes they are harvesting on the school farm.

The recent discovery of victory potatoes among the 3,200 bushel crop on the Mount Hermon School farm led to a suggestion on the part of student workers who harvested them that the largest, a perfect V standing eight inches high, should be sent to Prime Minister Churchill. Headmaster William E. Park is sending it with the following letter:

"My dear Mr. Prime Minister: When the victory potato pictured in the enclosed photograph was discovered in our harvest, the students who dug it requested that I send this happy symbol to you as a token of esteem and a harbinger of victory. I gladly acceded to this request and with this letter and the package go the hopes and prayers of 600 Mount Hermon boys and masters for your continued strength and well-being.

"The exchange of felicitations with your country is not without precedent here. Our chapel was the gift of British admirers of D. L. Moody, who founded the school, and two of our cottage dormitories are called 'London' and 'Manchester' because they once housed boys from those cities.

"We look forward to happier days when we may again number your young men among our students and in turn send some of our graduates to British universities. "Mount Hermon salutes you, Sir, and your courageous countrymen. We join you in prayer for an early but real victory."

Supt. Charles R. Mayberry of the Mount Hermon farm said he has never before seen potatoes grow in this peculiar manner.

Harmony Lodge Members Who Are In Services Service Speakers

Members of Harmony Lodge of Northfield who are serving in the various services of their country, include, Leslie H. Campbell, Richard A. Cobb, Joseph D. Costagug, Roy J. Fish, Everett W. Jones, William M. Marshall, John P. Miner and Clarence M. Steadler. As brother Masons, they are reflecting credit to the members of the fraternity.

Were Married Today

The marriage of Miss Winona E. Robinson of Gardiner, Maine, formerly of this town, and Pfc. Ernest L. Church, also of Gardiner, will take place in the Highland Avenue Methodist church of that town this Friday evening at eight o'clock. It will be a full military wedding and a reception will follow at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robins.

Reports Come In

As we go to press preliminary reports of gifts to the National War Fund show a total of $909 toward the town's $2000 quota.

About thirty members of the County Board of Fire Underwriters held their monthly supper meeting at the Bronson Inn Monday evening. A business session followed the supper which was much enjoyed.

Honor Roll Plans Are Shaping Up Now With Interest Shown

Plans for an Honor Roll for this community to commemorate the names of men in the services are taking definite form. The special committee named by the local post of the American Legion is endeavoring to crystallize the opinion of our citizens and Harold Bigelow and Stanley Payson are contacting local organizations and groups of individuals. There has been a general suggestion of approval to these efforts. James A. Britton, well known architect, who designed the honor roll board in Greenfield, has been contacted and he has promised to submit to the committee some designs and sketches which would make an appropriate display here. Estimates of cost will also be furnished. After the committee makes a preliminary report, there is reason to believe that a campaign can be started for funds, the board erected and dedicated by Christmas day. It is said that the old battered but historically interesting Honor Roll of World War 1 has been presented by the Legion to the Historical Society and is displayed in its building on Pine street. The task of preparation of the list of names for the new Honor Roll will be a most difficult one and will probably only contain the names of those who were bona-fide residents of this town at the time of enlistment or draft.

National War Fund Makes Its Appeal

A neighbor will call on you soon to take your pledge to the National War Fund. In deciding how much to give, think of these things:

A—The largest share of the 125 million dollar national total will go to the U. S. O.—directly benefitting our own townspeople in the service.

B—The inclusion of all the foreign relief agencies makes it possible for us to help those in which we are interested with one pledge.

C—There will be no more national campaigns this year for these agencies. This campaign eliminates duplicate appeals.

Think of your pledge in terms of the following 17 agencies. How much do you wish to give to each? The total should be the amount of your pledge:

1. U. S. O.;
2. United Seamen's Service;
3. War Prisoners Aid;
4. United Nations Relief, Belgian War Relief Society, British War Relief Society, French Relief Fund, Friends of Luxembourg, Greek War Relief Association, Norwegian Relief, Polish War Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Russian War Relief, United China Relief, United Czechoslovak Relief Fund, United Yugoslav Relief Fund;
5. Refugee Relief, Refugee Relief Trustees, United States Committee for the Care of European Children.

The list of agencies above appears on the pledge card. In order to be sure that the work of your choice receives your gift simply fill in amounts in proper spaces. If your neighborhood solicitor does not reach you mail your gift to the person in charge of your district or to George McEwan, chairman.

TOWN TOPICS

Although the weather was cold and windy, a goodly crowd turned out for the auction at the Giebel residence on Main street last Friday afternoon. Unfortunately, the crowd was not in the buying mood and low prices prevailed.

Norman Miller, son of Mrs. Sarella Miller of this town, who formerly was in the personnel work of the ordnance department at Watervliet, N. Y., then transferred to Washington, is now assigned to New York city. With his wife, he visited here last Sunday.

Mrs. Bruce Biddle of Siloam Springs, Ark., who visited her cousins here, Mrs. William Hoehn and Miss Ethel Lawrence this summer, and who sang so acceptably at the largely attended service of summer residents, has accepted the post of art director, on the faculty of John Brown University.

The heavy frost of last Sunday night gave everything over the landscape the appearance of whiteness on Monday morning, a picture of what things will look like when snow covers the ground.

The usual oratorical contest on a patriotic subject given annually at the High school will again be sponsored this year by the local Post of the American Legion. Edgar J. Livingston will represent the Legion in co-operation with the school authorities in the arrangements.

Dummerston, Vt. Grange, which annually gave a game supper, attracting many from distant places, including friends in Northfield, will again hold the supper but they have substituted pork instead of game.

Know Massachusetts

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . .

Beef and all you wanted of it for six and one-half cents a pound; cheese for four cents a meal of pork, beef and fish for 61 cents; or you could take an entire sheep for $2.00; potatoes 25 cents a bushel; chickens 17 cents apiece, but—the grocer paid wages of from 50 cents to one dollar a day; planting and hoeing brought 50 to 75 cents a day; killing a hog was worth a quarter; making shingles paid 17 cents a bundle and cutting shrewd brought 50 cents cord. These items, entered in the ledger of a West Brookfield business man in August 1843, were recently brought to light by James A. Britton, chairman of the Greenfield Planning Board and member of the State Planning Board, and were reported in the Greenfield Recorder. . . . The area comprising Quincy, Milton, Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, Hull, Hyde Park and Dorchester has been declared a "housing shortage area" by the National Housing Agency, which means that the Government will lease and convert large houses there into multiple-family dwellings. . . . Between May and August this year the rise in cost of living in Massachusetts not only was checked, but the total cost actually declined 3 per cent due to a drop in food prices, as shown by the index of the Division of Necessaries of Life. . . . In Metropolitan Boston, as defined by the 1940 Federal Census, there are 19 cities and 64 towns, a total of 83 municipalities. The region covers half of the cities, one-fifth of the towns and 54.4 per cent of the entire population of the Commonwealth. . . . The State Planning Board has just issued a tabulation showing the trends in industrial employment immediately following the first World War.

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . It is estimated that total income of individuals in Massachusetts is running about double that in 1939, but the dollar value of sales of consumer goods is up only about 30 per cent, leaving by far the largest spread for savings and taxes the Commonwealth has ever known. . . . The first steamboat on the Connecticut River, a side-wheeler named the "Barnet," appeared in 1826 and marked the beginning of rapid transition from the brags which were sailed or poled upstream by hand and which had provided the principal transportation of the Valley for at least 180 years. . . . 163 of the 259 public high schools in Massachusetts are conducting courses in aeronautics. . . . From January, 1941 to September, 1943, there were 115 changes in principals of the 259 high schools of the Commonwealth and 39 changes in junior high schools, due in most instances to the war. . . . Of the 571,320 families in Massachusetts, reported by the census for 1939 as dependent entirely on wages or salaries for income, the median family income was $1,594; of the 312,620 families having income from wages or salaries and other sources, the median was $1,447. . . . George C. Hadley, Secretary of the North Adams Planning Board, has been named by the Governor as a member of the State Planning Board.

From Sunday's Sermon
By Rev. Mr. Heeb

Speaking on the topic: "Working With a Sweating God," in his sermon last Sunday at the Unitarian church, Mr. Heeb said in part: The question is often asked religious leaders, Why does God not stop this dreadful war? When innocent people suffer untold woes, it is reasonable to ask: Why does not the All-Powerful God save them? I believe God is a limited God and without our help, He can do very little. God did not send the San Francisco earthquake which destroyed the larger part of that beautiful city because it was so wicked as many preachers claimed. That is daemonology, neither did He lift men out of the path of destruction, that would be angelology.

When Elijah said God was not in the strong wind, or the earthquake, or the fire, but "in the still small voice," he came nearer telling the truth about God than we like to believe. If God can stop the war and does not He is not merciful. If He can't He is not all-powerful. The fact is He needs us. He prays with us. He is a sweating God. Catastrophe causes men to lose their faith in God, but it also strengthens the faith of men. It gives them a faith worth having—tested in the fire. "Should not the Judge of all the earth do right?" is a fair question. When we follow the direction of the still small voice both God and man do right. God is limited by a first mortgage He has given man—a frail creature, yes, but both God and man are involved in the creative law that forever projects life beyond itself. Therefore, God is working at the Moscow Conference. He sits at every peace table, with every weeping mother and father, praying, sweating, hoping, working with every right-minded man and woman. He is the still small voice and He can do very little without you.

Christ The Mediator
From Mr. Dahl's Sermon

"There is one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." So Paul writes to Timothy (I Tim. 2:5). To speak of Christ as Mediator sounds ungenial to many people today. At its heart, however, this idea of Christ is not as elaborate or as difficult as many think. It means fundamentally two simple things: (1) Christ brings God to man. (2) Christ brings man to God.

Christ comes as God's ambassador. By His lips the divine truth is spoken. In Him God shows men His way of life. Through allegiance to Him, God offers His gift of fellowship with His Holy Spirit. Through Christ, then, God speaks to man.

Christ also comes as our guide and reconciler to God. He tells us how to become acceptable to God. When a man does wrong, Christ can bring him to repent of his ill-doing and to live a new life. When a man is lost, Christ brings him home. When a man despairs, Christ is the one who shows him that there is forgiveness and hope left in the world. For He lived and died in such a manner that through His influence men are even now brought back to God. On the cross God's loving forgiveness was demonstrated in a great object lesson. There atonement (or reconciliation) was made.

Christ is no barrier or middle-man to separate us from God. He is Guide and Friend who brings men into the presence of the Father and who thus wins for them forgiveness and peace.

STRENGTH FOR TODAY

I wait on Thee, for strength today;
Dear Lord, Thou wilt not fail:
Thou knowest I am but as dust,
My human form—how frail!

But each day give just what I need,
(Thou knowest are I ask!)
And each tomorrow wilt supply
Strength for my daily task.

DON'T BLAME EGBERT

It's not easy to realize how much cheaper electricity is today be-families added new appliances and used more and more electricity.

Legion After Members

The local Post of the American Legion is after new members and has launched a campaign by a committee of which Harold F. Bigelow is chairman. Commander Frank W. Pearsall has sent out a letter to all eligible veterans in town to unite in this patriotic organization. We quote two paragraphs from the letter.

"Ten million men—some 200 of them our own sons and neighbors—are now finishing the job we started a quarter-century ago. They are already returning in small numbers and some day all who have been spared will come back and try to pick up the thread of civilian life where they dropped it.

"No one knows better than we how difficult it is to pick up this elusive thread nor how dependent the returned soldier is for advice, help, and comradeship of others who have shared his experiences. The Congress of the United States, however, has recognized these facts and has authorized the American Legion to accept veterans of the present war into its membership. The Legion is qualified to offer these younger veterans the advice, help, and comradeship they will need so badly. . . .

It is hoped that many affiliations will result from the drive and that the membership committee will conclude a successful campaign.

Kaufhold In Camp

A message from Fritz Kaufhold, for many years a resident of this town and active in the affairs of the Youth Hostel, both here and abroad, who is at present at a camp for conscientious objectors, states that in company with 135 others, he is engaged in construction work for the government on the building of a large dam at Mancos, which is a public service project. Fritz was drafted for service, but being a conscientious objector, had his convictions, which in the American way of life, was respected, and so nearly two months ago, he was sent to a camp of his classification to engage in other than war training. In his present assignment, he writes that he is grateful for the opportunity to repay through constructive service, the hospitality that he has enjoyed in this country.

The Roof That Didn't Burn

Asphalt shingles protected the roof of this outbuilding from the fire-brands showered on it when the adjacent building was gutted by a fire originating within.

THE protection afforded to any structure by a fire-retardant roof was strikingly illustrated recently when fire broke out late at night in a country club outside of Minneapolis, Minn. Because the fire was not discovered at once and the club was some distance from the city, the blaze had wrecked most of the main building before the fire department could arrive to bring it under control. A strong wind was blowing which showered the adjacent building with sparks and fire-brands, but the roof of fire-resisant asphalt shingles resisted all brands and the building was unharmed by the fire.

Most farms likewise are far removed from fire-fighting help, and frequently are located where winds may blow sparks from the house to the barn, or where fire-brands from brush fires may be carried to roof tops. This is the reason that the National Fire Protection Association recommends that only fire-resistant materials be used to replace old farm roofs, or to roof new buildings being erected to take care of expanding production.
